

From Heather Arps:

Hi Heather,

I like the idea of making a quilt to honor the creators and donors of The Hamlet. There are many patterns that can be adapted to that purpose and maybe later this month we could sit down to look at ideas. Any pattern we choose will be customized to your color choices and what works best for the purpose. We'll want an overall color scheme that complements the room and allows signatures to be visible. Do you have an idea how many signatures you want to accommodate?

The quilt I just took down fit that room so nicely as far as pattern design and colors. I think a design that has detail without being too complicated would show the purpose best.

That said, I like this pattern below because it forms X's and O's = hugs and kisses. We can make it using fabrics that create a more open look while keeping the X's and O's.
